User Interfaces for the mobile app I have designed from onboarding, sign in/sign up, browsing online & offline shops, search, filter, e-commerce order checkout, contest page to profile settings.

Every three minutes a child in the US has an anaphylactic allergic reaction, and every six minutes a child is brought to a hospital, or urgent care center in response to allergy-related anaphylaxis.

Aibi is a design concept that consists of a redesigned epinephrine auto-injector that is more portable and easier to use, a wearable for kids to determine allergic reactions, and a medical emergencies alert system to delegate adults to take action in the case of emergency situation.

Aibi is designed to help kids to defend against allergies. By empowering elementary school children to take action in the quick onset of severe allergies, Aibi can be a critical step in ensuring their survival.

Font

Source Sans Pro was designed by Paul D. Hunt as Adobe's first open source typeface family, conceived primarily as a typeface for user interfaces. Source Sans Pro draws inspiration from the clarity and legibility of twentieth-century American gothic typeface designs. Distilling the best archetypical qualities of these models, Paul followed a rational design approach by simplifying glyph shapes by paring them to their essential form. However, in order to more easily differentiate similar letter shapes (such as uppercase I and lowercase L), some additional details have been added. Besides providing such explicitly clarity in short text strings, another fundamental design consideration was to create a typeface that reads well in extended settings. This can be seen in the general proportions: Source Sans Pro has been designed with a more generous width than many other comparable gothics, and its shorter majuscule letters, combined with minuscule letters with longer extenders, create a more pleasant reading texture in longer text passages.
